Vol. 22

Chinook, Alberta Thursday, JUNE 28th 1945

Chinook District Heavy Rainfall

Chinook district received one of the heaviest rainfalls in many months, commencing on Tuesday evening and continuing until Wednesday midnight, upwards of 1 1/4 inches of rain fell most of which went into the ground, and will be of great benefit to pastures and crops north of town.

The district around the correction line south of town where moisture conditions are of the best, it will help a great deal. Some crops are 15 inches high, with heavy stands. Summer fallow wheat is patchy, due to wire worm damage. With present moisture conditions crop prospects are good, and with warm weather will improve. At present the sky is overcast with a promise of more showers.

We Canadians, together with the citizens of the United States and Great Britain, will eat less sugar during the balance of 1945.

To meet our own needs and the urgent requirements of our Allies and the liberated countries, our share of the reduction must total nearly 200,000,000 pounds of sugar during the rest of the year.

To assure fair distribution of what is left, the sugar ration is to be cut by five pounds during the next seven months by reducing the monthly allotment to one pound in June, July, August, October and December. In September and November, the allowance will remain unchanged at two pounds.

The ten pound sugar allotment for home canning, represented by twenty extra preserves coupons, remains unchanged. Two regular preserves coupons will continue to become valid each month.

ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT SUGAR

Q. How does Canada get its share of world sugar supplies?

A. World stocks are pooled by the Combined Food Board of the United Nations which allots sugar to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform per capita basis.

Q. Where does the rest of the world sugar supply go?

A. To other claimants, including liberated areas, European neutrals, Russia, the Middle East, New Zealand and other sugar-importing countries. Approximately one-half of this total is destined for liberated areas.

Q. Is there less sugar in the world today?

A. Yes. Because needs are up and production is down, world sugar stocks reached a new low at the beginning of 1945. By the end of the year, they will be down again, this time to a dangerous minimum.

Q. Why is there more demand for sugar?

A. The rising demand largely reflects the needs of liberated areas.

Q. Why is there less production?

A. World sugar output is lower for these reasons:

1. Enemy occupation of some sources such as Java and the Philippines. Java, of course, is still in Japanese hands and, although the Philippines are liberated, production is not expected to be restored until late in 1946.
2. Other export countries have experienced serious shortages of labour and fertilizer.
3. Record drought conditions and hurricanes have also cut into production in the important West Indian area.

INDUSTRIAL AND QUOTA USERS WILL ALSO GET LESS

Effective July 1, 1945, sugar made available to industrial users, such as bakers, biscuit and breakfast cereal manufacturers, makers of soft drinks, confectionery and candy, and jam and wine manufacturers, will again be reduced.

A further cut is also being made in the allotment to quota users, such as public eating places, while similar reductions are being made by the Armed Forces in the sugar quotas for service personnel.

The Uses Of Propaganda

PROPAGANDA HAS BECOME ONE of the most powerful weapons of modern warfare, and it has played a highly important part in the present conflict. Through the clever use of propaganda, Hitler built up his regime in Germany, and spread the legend of Nazi superiority at home and abroad. By the same means, the Germans attempted to break the morale of the Allied armies, and to spread fear and discouragement among the civilian population of all countries who opposed Germany. They used it also in repeated efforts to sow seeds of doubt and distrust among the United Nations. The Allies have likewise made much use of propaganda against both Germany and Japan. The effect of this weapon on the final outcome of the war may never be fully determined, but the extent to which it is used is evidence that it is regarded as a valuable means of attack, and the dissemination of propaganda has become a highly specialized branch of modern warfare.

Is Used Not Only For War

Because of the uses to which propaganda is put in time of war, there is a tendency to associate it only with evil purposes. On the contrary, it is often used to spread helpful and authentic information, and also as a counter-measure against enemy misrepresentations. Indeed, it is used as often to build public morale and to establish confidence between nations, as for destruction. One authority has defined propaganda as "an organized scheme to establish a doctrine or practice." There is need in time of peace, as well as in war, to keep the people constantly aware of certain facts, and an organized scheme to bring to the attention of the public the need for tolerance, understanding, and good citizenship might be a powerful factor in laying the foundation for permanent peace.

Great Need For Re-Education

There are many means by which propaganda is spread. The press and the radio are the two most obvious outlets, but in Germany, Hitler demonstrated the great power of propaganda in re-educating the people of Germany and Japan, and in counteracting the deep impression made by those who have sought to destroy everything related to the democratic way of life. It is clear that propaganda is an important weapon of peace, as well as of war.

His Little Speech

Eisenhower Paid Highest Tribute To Fighting Forces Of Britain

The London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal, says: The unanimous decision to confer the honorary freedom of the city of London, any sword of honor on Gen. Dwight Eisenhower was a foregone conclusion, but never in all its long history has London paid tribute to a more distinguished freeman.

As Allied Supreme Commander in the West, Gen. "Ike" Eisenhower has won immense popularity as well as undying fame. His genius as an organizer, his judgment and vision as a military strategist and his tremendous drive have been associated with a tactful geniality and a masterful firmness of command which not many men in history could have equalled.

Curiously enough no paper published the little speech he made on V-night, yet it contained the highest tribute ever paid to the fighting forces of Britain. "I thank God," declared the Supreme Commander, "that we had the British fighting with us."

Conditions Better

Many Things In Britain Indicate A Return To Normal

The New York Herald Tribune says although many war-time restrictions still remain in effect in England, there are indications of a return to peace-time conditions in several fields. The lights, including that over Big Ben, have gone on again. A firm which had been making parts for airplanes and submarines is now producing combs. And the Loch Ness monster has been sighted again.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—I am planning on spending my summer vacation at a nearby resort and will be living at the hotel. Is it necessary for me to take along my ration book?

A—It will not be necessary for you to take your ration book with you if you are staying for less than four weeks. If you plan on being in residence at the hotel for four weeks, you will turn over one sugar, two preserves and three butter coupons from your ration book.

Q—When will the next ten extra preserve coupons for canning sugar become valid?

A—The remaining ten extra preserve coupons to be used for either the purchase of sugar for home canning or commercial preserves will become valid July 19.

Q—I am a farmer and make my own butter for family use only. Is it necessary for me to hand over my butter coupons to the local ration board?

A—Every farmer who produces butter for home consumption must detach from his own ration book and from those of members of his household, the same number of valid butter coupons which he would be required to collect if he were selling the butter. These coupons are to be forwarded to the local ration board each month.

Q—Are landlords allowed to ask for six months' rent in advance when renting an apartment?

A—No, under the rentals regulations landlords are not allowed to ask for more than one month's rent in advance.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your selling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

A Fitting Tribute

French Villagers Honor Canadians On Anniversary Of D-Day

Villagers of Bernieres sur Mer gathered at sunrise on June 6 in front of their invasion-scarred stone houses to pay simple homage to Canadian soldiers who stormed ashore as Liberators on D-Day.

With heads bowed, the villagers stood on the beach among the twisted hulks of landing craft still lying half-buried in the white sand, and offered a silent prayer for all who brought them freedom from across the grey channel waters. Theirs must have been the most moving of all D-Day anniversary celebrations in France.

Unpretentious as it was, the moment of meditation by humble Normans seemed a more fitting tribute to the memory of our fallen fighting men than all the brass bands and flamboyant speeches.

There was a piano on the beach. Men of a British garrison brought it and one of them accompanied the singing of hymns. Then the crowd walked slowly the 500 yards to the town square, following in the path of three tractors, vehicles carrying Canadian soldiers.

CHECKERS—IN A BIG WAY.—Railway shomen are usually ingenious fellows who can do things with their hands. Even when it comes to such a parlor game as checkers, the boys at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Weston shops in Winnipeg decided to do things in a big way, designing and building a cement "board" 10 foot, eight inches square, surrounded by a four foot sidewalk, and squares of 16 inches. Players pick up the "men", which are 10 inches in diameter and three inches deep with long poles, moving them about as on any other checkerboard. Outdoor checkers, Weston style, threatens to develop into a major spectator sport, since invariably there is a vocal gallery of "experts", second-guessing the players. Above is a typical noon-hour scene at the big railway shops, since the giant board made its debut. Standing at left is Dave Warner, coach shop foreman, who designed it. M. Garden Without Soil

Grow Vegetables And Flowers By Using Chemicals

Perfect vegetables and flowers are being grown in England without soil. The new process is the work of a well-known British scientist, S. R. Mullard, the radio valve pioneer.

The plants are grown in coarse shingle in concrete tanks and are fed only by a nutrient chemical solution which at intervals is pumped from the bottom upwards by a tiny electric motor.

The process demands little labour since a special cut-out device shuts off the current and stops the pump as soon as the tank is sufficiently full.

Mr. Mullard has made an offer to the Ministry of Labour to train suitable ex-service men in the art of soil-less cultivation so that they can in turn become instructors.

Developed In Britain

Washing Machine Has Many Technical Devices Which Are New

A new revolutionary type of electric washing machine, developed in the United Kingdom, will make press-button laundering a possibility for every housewife. The machine applies to laundering the principle of the ship's screw in the form of an impeller device, which is far more efficient than the older agitator device which it replaces. Other new technical devices incorporated are an exceptionally lightweight speed reducer, a neat form of clutch and an automatic, completely foolproof safety device on the attached wringer. Starting with about 1,000 machines a week, production will be rapidly stepped up to between 100,000 and 150,000 a year.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Willie: "Charlie Chaplin, Miss, 'cause he ain't dead!"

"Well, he is rather hard of hearing."

Matron—"I'd like to get a book."

Librarian—"Something light or heavy?"

Matron—"Doesn't matter. I have my car outside."

Mistress: "I am sorry you are leaving us, Jane. But, of course, if you are going to better yourself."

Maid: "Oh, no, Madam. I am going to be married."

Gruff Father (to son): "Why don't you get out and find a job? When I was your age I was working for $3 a week in a shop, and at the end of five years I owned the shop."

Son: "You can't do that nowadays. They have cash registers."

The six-year-old was seated at the breakfast table one morning, when, as usual, eggs were served. The little tot surveyed them for a moment and solemnly said: "I wish to goodness hens would lay something besides eggs."

Jim—"Do you work long hours?" Joe—"No. Only the regulation length—60 minutes each."

Owen Roberts, leaning disconsolately against the kitchen door, watched Martha examine the cherry pie. It was not quite done, and she shoved it back into the oven and turned to him with a merry laugh. "Here," she said, lifting the baby out of his high chair, "you can hold Michael and tell me what's on your mind while I poke at this roast. Sometimes I think the old oven was better, after all!"

The solid warmth of the little boy was quieting. Owen slipped to a stool and unconsciously relaxed. "Rule number one," he grinned, "don't bring your office worries home. Oh, they're only little things—papers not getting typed—a hurried petty cases—indignant taxpayers wanting to know why the district attorney doesn't win every trial—and another one of those vicious little store robberies."

Martha gasped. "You mean that burglar who ruins everything?"

He sighed and gently freed his necktie from the baby's grasp. "Just like the others—the dress shop with ink poured all over the stock, the neighborhood bakery with the ovens put out of commission. This was a candy shop run by a widow. Twenty dollars taken from a can under the counter, boxes smashed, and her account book ripped up." He flushed. "If they ever bring that man into my court," he said energetically, "I'll prosecute as I've never done before, not in my biggest case! That's not burglary! It's wanton destruction. The most he's ever found in a shop is seventy-eight dollars. And people demanding to know why the police can't do something. It's impossible for them to keep an eye on every one of those little shops every minute. Most of them have poor locks and no burglar alarms, and the little ones are the only ones this thief selects."

Martha drained the potatoes into the sink. "You seem very sure it's a man."

"Oh, he was seen last night. That's the worst of it. A high-school boy coming home from a show saw the thief leave the shop and go down the street. The kid didn't think anything of it till today. He was standing on the porch fumbling for his key and saw the fellow distinctly under the street light, for he waited on the corner and got on a north-bound street car. The boy's description isn't any help to us, but he's positive he could recognize him. The biggest clue, I think, is that the fellow is such a despicable type. He'll trip himself up."

The back door opened and Tommy fell in. As he rushed to wash, he shouldered over his shoulder details of the movie he had seen downtown with his aunt and cousins, and his report was continued at the table between man-sized bites. Martha beamed proudly at him. In spite of his chunkiness he bore a striking resemblance to his tall father, and the difference in age between her two children made a special place for each of them in her heart. "What did you say about afterwards, Tommy?" she inquired.

"That was the most exciting! A lady fell getting off a bus, and there was a crowd, and people talking, and the driver took everybody's names. You look Aunt Cora's name. I promise to go with you to the Saturday Wild-Western double feature, even though I can't bear the things."

Owen slapped his hand on the table and uttered a loud oath, for he had struck it on the carving fork. "Tommy," he pronounced solemnly, "you have given me an idea. If it is true, I promise to go with you to the Saturday Wild-Western double feature, even though I can't bear the things."

He grinned mysteriously at Martha, and the grin spread wider after the dishes were done and he was scribbling on small bits of paper which he carefully concealed. "What am I doing? I am imitating the spider," he declared with a threatening sweep of his long arms. "The arduous spider who issues invitations, and tomorrow, darling, I am going to place an ad in the newspaper."

"And so," said Owen two days later, with a triumphant gesture, "he walked right into the house, and as soon as the boy identified him Officer Donovan arrested him. Now he's confessed." He pulled a piece of newspaper from his pocket. "What Tommy said about the bus accident gave me the idea, and I stuck this under Peter's door. I'm sure he'll see it. The lady fall in north-bound Oakland street car evening of 7 o'clock at 2173 Lake Street Liberal reward. I knew he was on that line that evening; I guessed that he wouldn't pass up such a chance to get a little money and particularly to make trouble for the company by swearing to anything and everything desired. He's a shrewd fellow—Mrs. Donovan said he kept her going for fifteen minutes telling him a satisfactory story of her fall—but he'll be put away for a long time. And what do you think, honey? I'm going to buy you that electric mixer—it beats its, its creams, it cleans—no, it could hardly clean . . ."

Martha pulled him down on the sofa. "No, you don't," she said grimly. "Not another thing for the kitchen. I'm going out to buy a hat—and one of those big jeweled spiders to stick on my suit lapel!"

Secrets Of Houdini The Magician May Never Be Known

The secrets of the legendary legend, Houdini, were forever placed beyond the reach of men's minds with the death at New York of his brother and heir, Theo Harden. Harden, 69, died in the hospital he entered for an operation.

Houdini, master magician of all time, died in 1926. To Harden, an eminent prestidigitator in his own right, he bequeathed his tricks and art, stipulating that on the latter's death they should go to the grave with him.

Through the intervening 19 years, Harden complied with terms of the will. No one but himself knew how he, or Houdini, escaped from inside tanks, locked trunks or sealed chambers.

A Plea For Beautification Of Urban And Rural Homes

The Lethbridge Herald relates a story about a man in Seattle to back up its point that more people should paint more buildings and homes to make Canada a brighter and more cheerful place.

"There was once a citizen of Seattle about to paint his house in accordance with the time honored custom that requires a yearly application in that city of gardens and flowers of bright color to the facade of every home."

"The painter came to the door and courteously inquired: 'What color, Sir?'"

"Ask my neighbor across the street, for he is the one who will have to bear it," replied the owner without a minute's hesitation."

It's the neighbors alongside and across the street who have to put up with the shabby-looking houses, says the Herald. Nothing is more of an eye-sore than a couple of dismal, unpainted houses in a block alongside of homes that are kept looking bright and neat through frequent painting.

"This may be interpreted as a boost for the paint dealers," says the Herald. "Rather it is promotional material for beautification of our rural and urban homes. It has to do with the need of freshening up the appearance of houses and other buildings that look very shabby because paint hasn't been applied to them for too a long time."

Treasure Ship

Locate Sunk Pirate Ship Off The New England Coast

Edward Rowe Snow, New England coastal historian, says he believes he has located a treasure-laden pirate ship in 14 feet of water, 45 miles off Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod.

He said that two divers, Al and Bill George, brought up coins from the sunken craft. The vessel, he added, was discovered originally in 1879 when a chest of coins was surfaced from the ship.

His explanation of the new find was made while divers were attempting to identify positively the hull of a vessel believed to be the steamship Portland, which sank in a storm in 1898 with the loss of many lives.

1 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
3 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup water
1 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups corn flakes

Combine dates or raisins, sugar, water, orange juice, and grated rind; cook until soft paste is formed. Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add alternately with water and flavoring to first mixture. Stir in coarsely rolled corn flakes. Roll dough to about one-eighth inch in thickness. Cut with floured cookie cutter; spread one round with filling and put second round on top, pressing edges together. Bake on greased sheet in 350 degree oven (450 degrees F.) about 12 minutes. Yield: 36 cookies (2 1/2 inches in diameter)

Demand For Eggs

Need Every Egg Possible For Food Supply

In an endeavour to convey to egg producers in Canada the urgency of obtaining from existing flocks every egg possible this year and of conserving its quality right through to the consumer, the Egg and Poultry Market Report of the Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, emphasizes the necessity of making every egg count. The overall need for food is the justification for this appeal at this time. Europe needs food, particularly animal proteins, and there is not enough food of that kind in sight to meet all requirements in the next six months.

Great Britain has provided liberally of her supplies for military relief in European countries. As a result she has already been forced to reduce rations for her own people. Eggs are an important asset in providing needed proteins. The need now is even greater than during the European war. Every effort is required, therefore, to see that all possible eggs be produced by existing flocks and not one egg that is produced be lost either through deterioration in quality or through breakage.

Occurs In Cycles

Plague Of Tent Caterpillars Now Prevalent In Canada

A caterpillar plague is prevalent in Canada from the maritimes as far west as Edmonton and is spreading farther westward and southward into regions previously unaffected, the entomological branch of the agricultural department warned.

A departmental spokesman said this summer seems to be the peak of a three-year cycle when tent caterpillars are most numerous. For some reason, the pests increase over three-year cycles and then seem to die off until the next cycle begins.

THE FIRST LESSON

Thinking his son was now old enough to begin to learn the secrets of commerce, the successful business man started:

"There are two things necessary if you want to succeed, my boy: these are honesty and sagacity."

"What is honesty, father?" asked the lad.

"No matter what happens or how adversely it affects you, always keep your word once you have given it."

"And sagacity?"

"Never give it."

The word mascot originated in Provence and Gascony and meant something which brought luck to a household.

Now Is The Time To Deliver Your Wheat Through Pool Elevators

For the remainder of the present crop year, that is, up to July 31st, farmers may deliver any quantity of wheat they wish. After July 31st, however, the 1945-46 delivery quota of 14 bushels per authorized acre will be in effect. This quota set by the Wheat Board, will apply throughout the Province and deliveries will be definitely limited to the amounts allowed to each farmer under it.

Now is the time, therefore, to get your wheat delivered, unless you wish to keep it on your farm as a reserve. The place to take it is to your local Pool elevator. It is your elevator, built by you to give service at cost. It will be to your advantage to use it.

Is The Stork Losing His Job?

Canadian flying men have moved a lot of strange cargoes both at home and abroad in the last several years, but when a Quebec Airways Boeing took off from Quebec City Airport the other day, bound for Chicoutimi, it carried one of the strangest loads of all—26 babies, not one of them over five months old!

The infants were being transferred from La Creche Saint-Vincent-de-Paul in Quebec to Chicoutimi—a long train ride, but only an hour away by air. L'Abbe Germain, priest in charge of the Quebec Airways, a Canadian Pacific Air Lines subsidiary, with the result that the babies flew, and all in one plane-load. Ordinarily, the aircraft carries ten passengers and a crew of three. But with Sister Coeur Immacule and Sister

Marie de la Reparation, who were also making their first airplane flight, the total number of souls aboard was thirty-one. Even so, with each baby weighing an average of ten pounds, it was a far lighter load than customary.

Special three-place cribs, made of plywood, were built so that each box would fit into one seat in the airplane. Wrapped snugly in baby blankets, and strapped in both boxes and seats, even the roughest of air could not have tossed the tiny infants out. And as it turned out, there wasn't even one bump on the entire trip.

"They didn't give a bit of trouble," said Stewardess Joan Harland, a veteran hostess of the airline. "After the take-off, they just went to sleep, and that's all there was to it!"

Bachelor Captain Art Leach, pilot of the plane, didn't have much to say: "They were squealing when I went forward before take-off, and they were squealing after I landed," he announced grumpily.

Said First Officer Gordon Alexander: "I didn't hear a thing. Had the ear-phones on all the time." Then, musically, "Seems to me static was a little worse than usual, though!"

"Heigh-Ho. Come to the Fair"

As a combined source of information and amusement, the country fair has few competitors. It is one of the few attractions having an equal appeal to men and women, old and young. The best livestock in the community are there; the most recent improvements in farm machinery are on display; neighbours from near and far meet, often for the first time since the last fair; tests of skill, strength and luck are available to all; exhibit buildings are packed with interest and information, and a full day is rounded off in the grandstand.

The exhibit of The North-West Line Elevators Association has established an enviable reputation on the fair circuits. This year, matters of almost universal farm interest will be featured. An attractive display showing the most important features and advantages of farm electrification will occupy the centre of the exhibit. The remaining space is devoted to weeds, insects, fertility, pests to diseases, small fruit culture, and testing cereal seeds for smut. Everett Robertson, B.S.A., will be on hand to advise on the various farm problems with which the exhibit is concerned. Don't fail to visit us at one of the following points: Brandon, Weyburn, Portage la Prairie, Yorkton, Melfort, Lloydminster, Vermilion, Vegreville, Red Deer, North Battleford and Prince Albert.
